Entanglements. A Light Touch With Heavy Metal

Transforming under-performing outdoor areas into exquisite sanctuaries.

The artisans at Entanglements are into heavy metal in a big way. They spend their days caressing it into works of art for gardens around the world. For 10 years they've collaborated with architects, landscape gardeners and home renovators transforming under-performing outdoor areas into exquisite sanctuaries.

Entanglements custom make metal sculptures, decorative screens, water features, fire pits, pergolas, trellises, in fact, almost anything you can imagine. Clients often approach them with a rough idea, a sketch, or a photo of a space that needs help and Entanglements' in-house designers work with them to realise their vision. They're pretty impressive when given artistic freedom too. Their aesthetic judgement and meticulous workmanship have garnered a swag of accolades, including gold medals at the Melbourne International Flower & Garden Show.

If you need a focal point for your garden, to add texture to landscaping, or to inject personality into a space, perhaps it's time to get into heavy metal. A great place to start is with the range of Entanglements creations available off-the-shelf. A visit to their Ormond showroom or online store is highly recommended.
